

The West Derby Road route is wide and continuous on the way into the city. On the way out it passes parking bays and shops and is broken there, care needed.

Kingsley Road has wands installed but there is a lot of vehicle parking in them. This means cyclists have to cycle outside the wands. This is potentially dangerous. Liverpool City Council is aware of this and will be installing double-yellow lines so that they can enforce the parking problem.

There is no protection on this section. The speed limit is to be changed to 20mph, and ways to add protection are being looked at.

This section of Sefton Park Road has had a 1-metre wide lane installed. This is too narrow to use and Liverpool City Council says it will widen it.
